DATE: May 16, 2016

RE: Outstanding Secondary Math Teacher of the Year

Congratulations to Todd Lomax, math teacher at Southwestern Randolph High School, for being selected the Outstanding Secondary Math Teacher of the Year for the Randolph County School System. The importance of mathematics instruction in our schools cannot be overestimated. To emphasize this reality, the North Carolina Council of Teachers of Mathematics (NCCTM) and the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction (NCDPI) strive to recognize and reward secondary school teachers who exemplify mathematics teaching excellence by nurturing students' enthusiasm through involvement with special projects and activities to supplement and enhance everyday classroom experiences. This recognition is for those teachers who succeed in motivating students to excel in mathematics.

Mr. Lomax will receive one year's membership in the NCCTM, a personalized award, and recognition at the NCCTM State Conference in Greensboro. In addition, his name will appear in the Fall 2016 issue of the NCCTM journal, the Centroid, and on NCCTM's website.
