The minutes of the October meeting were reviewed. Jodi Short then made a motion to approve the agenda. Pat Chiappetta seconded the motion. The vote was unanimous and the motion carried.

The first order of business was to review the sheet regarding directions on training for school council. All members were able to access the training online.

The next order of business was a review of the Essential Standards work that is happening at Lake Joy Primary. The council discussed the success of the workshop and noted that this was a great way to train parents about the standards and the importance of teaching together regarding these standards. There will be one more workshop as a follow up. The council discussed having a hands – on approach with a mock classroom lesson. Teachers would use the thinking out loud method so that parents can hear the thought process as the problems and questions are completed especially with math problems. This will be a K- 2 workshop all together so that parents can see the progression of standards.

We also discussed with the council if they thought online videos teaching math strategies would be a help for homework. The council thought that would be a great addition to parent resources available.

April Strevig discussed the new 'no left turn' signs on Lakeview. The city did a study and noticed traffic problems and created the no turn rule during heavy traffic times. The city also said the city may be adding sidewalks and parking. With all of this happening the electronic sign may need to be placed on hold until we know what will happen with the front of our building.
