Conflict (Problem)

The conflict of the story is that Margarita was struggling by having two different parents from different cultures and unable to visit her relatives because of her immigration status.

Solution

The solution to the story is after everything happen Margarita was able to return to the island of her childhood dream life in Cuba.

Mood

The mood of the story was memory because what she went through because she grow up with two different cultures. I also enjoy the story because it also tells about what people go through when dealing with two different cultures.

Summary

The summary of the story is that she grew up as a child of two different cultures. Margarita was also struggling in her life because she had two parents from different part of the world. Margarita also deal with Cuba and Europe environment because her mother stay in one place and her father stay in another, so Margarita struggle go back and forth visit both parent. Some one-day Margarita was able to understand and be part of the island where she love to spend most of her time on the island where her mother live.
