

ROBERT C. HATCH HIGH SCHOOL EMPLOYEE OF THE WEEK
JANUARY 18 - 22, 2021

My name is Johnathan Harris and I am the 7th and 8th grade Math teacher at Robert C. Hatch. I am the son of Mildred and John Harris who were both educators and I have two siblings, Patrese and TaShunta who are also in the education field. My mother passed in 1989 and my father raised my siblings and me almost by himself. I graduated from Selma High School in the year 2000, where I lettered in 3 sports and was able to receive a scholarship to Alabama A&M University for football playing quarterback. I later transferred to Miles College where I would major in Math Education, hold starting positions in 2 sports (basketball and football) for three years, and pledge the greatest fraternity in the world, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Inc. in 2004. A few months later I would father my first of three daughters. They are now 16, 12, and 2 (Khloe, Aniya, and Cajsa). These three are my soul and motivation!!!

My other hobbies (besides fathering) include reading, cycling, sports activities of any kind, and fellowshipping with fraternity brothers. I love the fact of constantly evolving and gaining knowledge. I love each individual I encounter because my religion is love. Sharing this trait is something I try to carry in my everyday walk.

After years of struggles and hardships, I completed my degree at the University of West Alabama in December of 2020! I have been fortunate enough to continue my passion for educating the youth here at Robert C. Hatch since 2016 and I would not mind retiring here years and years on down the road. GOOO BOBCATS and I LOVE YOU ALL!!!!
