ELL Hiring

When the Franklin County School District interviews for the position of an English Language Learner teacher, the interviewer will be assessing and documenting the interviewee's skills and capabilities in fluency, in the language that they will be using to teach. In addition to fluency, the interviewer will be analyzing the speaking and listening skills through a question and answer process. The interviewer will review the application to ensure that the applicant is fluent in writing skills. This language will be included in any postings for positions for ELL teachers and will be stated during the interviews.
