Houston County Career Academy Student Earns PC Pro Certification

HOUSTON COUNTY, GA - Houston County Career Academy and Central Georgia Technical College (CGTC) student Zachary Hendrix has earned his PC Pro Certification. He is a rising senior at Houston County High School and a dual-enrolled student in CGTC's CompTIA A+ Certified Preparation Technical Certificate of Credit (TCC) program.

At the end of the spring semester, Hendrix successfully completed the PC Pro exam through the TestOut Corporation, an international provider of online labs for academia and information technology (IT) professionals. TestOut IT Skills certifications are designed for individuals who are pursuing a career in the information systems and technology field. The exam measures job skills required for IT entry- to mid-level positions. This certification specifically measures a candidate's readiness to work as a computer/IT support professional.

Dual enrollment opportunities enhance student engagement, improve graduation rates and increase student learning. Dual enrollment at CGTC gives high school students the opportunity to get a jump-start on their college career by earning college and high school credit simultaneously at little or no cost to the student.

The Houston County Career Academy is located at 1311 Corder Road in Warner Robins. For more information, please contact Principal Sabrina Phelps at 478-322-3280.
