RE: Battle of the Books Winners

Congratulations to Southmont Elementary School and Archdale-Trinity Middle School on winning the Randolph County School System's 2017 "Battle of the Books" competitions.

This year, for the elementary schools we held a preliminary competition. With 17 schools, participating, space and time had become a factor. The preliminary competitions held simultaneously at Providence Grove High School and Wheatmore High School. The top nine out of seventeen teams advanced to the district competition held at Randolph Community College on March 10, 2017. Southmont Elementary finished first with 72 points followed by Grays Chapel Elementary with 71 points and Randleman Elementary with 67 points. Southmont Elementary went on to represent the Randolph County School System in the Elementary Region 5 Competition held on May 4, 2017 at the Laughlin Professional Development Center of Guilford County Schools. The team finished third out of nine LEAs in the regional competition. We are very proud of them as this was the second year for the Randolph County School System to participate in the elementary regional competition.
