INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this guidebook is to provide information relative to the administration of the Instructional Materials Program for grades PreK-12 in Taylor County Schools.

Contents of this document are based upon:

- 1) current regulations,
- 2) state and county policies, and
- 3) procedures utilized in the county.

For successful implementation of the instructional materials program it is vitally important that all administrative personnel and their textbook managers become thoroughly familiar with the policies, procedures, and guidelines applicable to instructional materials. The Taylor County Schools Instructional Materials Program is an integral and essential part of the K-12 instructional process. It is to that goal this guidebook has been designed.

The district school board has the constitutional duty and responsibility to select and provide adequate instructional materials for all students in accordance with the requirements of this part. The term "adequate instructional materials" means a sufficient number of student or site licenses or sets of materials that are available in bound, unbound, kit, or package form and may consist of hardbacked or softbacked textbooks, electronic content, consumables, learning laboratories, manipulatives, electronic media, and computer courseware or software that serve as the basis for instruction for each student in the core subject areas of mathematics, language arts, social studies, science, reading, and literature.. FS 1006.28

A district school board or consortium of school districts may implement an instructional materials program that includes the review, recommendation, adoption, and purchase of instructional materials. The district school superintendent shall certify to the department by March 31 of each year that all instructional materials for core courses used by the district are aligned with applicable state standards. A list of the core instructional materials that will be used or purchased for use by the school district shall be included in the certification. 1006.283, FS

Library Media Services:

The District School Board shall establish and maintain a program of school library media services for all public schools in the district, including school library media centers, or school library media centers open to the public, and, in addition such traveling or circulating libraries as may be needed for the proper operation of the district school system. Upon written request, a school district shall provide access to any material or book specified in the request that is maintained in a district school system library and is available for review. Ref. 1006.28(2)(d) FS

INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS DEFINITIONS

On-Adoption Instructional Materials:

Those instructional materials that are currently on district adoption. These materials can be state adopted or non-state adopted. Materials are typically adopted for a six year period, but some titles may remain on adoption for several years longer. These are the materials that must be reported on the Textbook Inventory each June.

Off-Adoption Instructional Materials:

Instructional materials whose district adoption period has expired. Current off-adoption materials may be maintained on the Textbook Inventory, but these are not titles that continue to be ordered.

Extended Adoption Instructional Materials:

Instructional materials that continue to be used in the district but which are no longer available from publishers or the Florida School Book Depository.

School Textbook Chairperson:

The person designated by the principal to handle instructional materials in the school center. This is a supplemented position.

Textbook Inventory Report:

This report form lists all of the instructional materials for which a school or department is responsible and accountable. The district updates it with each adoption, and the final inventory is due from schools by June 30th of each year.

Dual Enrollment Materials:

Those materials that are issued to high school students who are also enrolled in post-secondary courses creditable toward a vocational certificate or an associate or baccalaureate degree.

Back Orders:

These are materials that have been ordered by schools, but that have not been received from the publisher or Florida School Book Depository. It is the school's responsibility to follow up on backordered materials.

Florida School Book Depository (FSBD):

The depository that carries all state-adopted instructional materials in the state of Florida, and from which the district orders all state adopted materials used in district schools. FSBD is a private business that is located in Jacksonville, Florida. The Instructional Services Office issues elementary and secondary FSBD catalogs each year. Prices listed in the catalog are the state contract prices for the adopted materials.

Consumable Instructional Materials:

Materials listed on the Textbook Inventory intended to be written in and consumed by students.

Textbook Chairpersons will need to maintain a count of any consumable materials on hand and order replacements as needed.

Non-consumable Instructional Materials:

Materials listed on the Textbook Inventory, which are not meant to be written in or consumed by students. These materials are reissued to students year after year and are intended to last the length of the adoption without replacement.

Ancillary Materials:

These are supplemental or ancillary materials that publishers offer “free with order” during the first year of adoption and purchase. In subsequent years, these items must be purchased at the price listed in the FSBD Catalog. These items are meant to last the length of the adoption and the count per teacher should be reconciled at the school each year.

Computer-Assisted-Instruction (CAI) Materials:

Software used for instruction or intervention. This software is district purchased and/or approved.

Textbook Allocations:

Instructional materials are purchased through categorical funding from the state of Florida. The funding is based on the FEFP and may fluctuate from year to year. The district allocates the funds to schools in accordance with the adoption needs for the year. Media funding and dollars for science lab materials are a part of this funding.

TEXTBOOK CHAIRPERSON

Each school principal shall appoint a textbook chairperson for his/her school.

The duties of the Textbook Chairperson include

1. Maintaining a working knowledge of the information located in the Instructional Materials Handbook.
2. Assisting the principal with the annual textbook inventory.
3. Maintaining a current list of textbooks and their prices used in the school.
4. Assisting the principal with the ordering of textbooks.
5. Communicating with the Florida School Book Depository concerning damaged textbooks or textbooks received in error.
6. Facilitating the textbook adoption process by assuring that sample texts are distributed as requested by the district office. Records should be kept noting this distribution, so that samples can be located as necessary.
7. Communicating with the district Director of Instruction or designee to assure that school textbook needs are supplied. The principal should be aware of needs prior to their communication to the Director of Instruction or designee.

INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS ADOPTION GUIDELINES

Taylor County is a closed district. This means that all initial calls from companies and sales representatives regarding textbook purchase should be directed through the district office. The Instructional Services Department should be contacted if sales representatives contact the school without going through the district office. A sales representative will not be sent to a school from the district office without prior notification from the Instructional Services Department to the school. All vendor presentations during an adoption year are coordinated through the Instructional Services Department.

INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS ADOPTION PROCEDURES

1. The District adoption cycle for instructional materials shall align with the State cycle except where a separate District adoption is considered necessary. Subject areas to be reviewed will be posted on the district web site and published in the Instructional Materials Handbook. Adopted materials shall be used during the adoption cycle until physically unusable, until replaced with newly-adopted materials, or until the course is no longer offered.
2. The District review will focus on evaluating materials that are submitted by publishers for State adoption or other materials available at the time from appropriate publishers. The goal will be to recommend the most suitable materials for District adoption in Wakulla County.
3. In the selection of instructional materials to be used in the District, the criteria used to determine the propriety of the materials shall include: alignment with course state standards provided for in FS 1001.03, the educational purpose to be served by the materials, the degree to which the materials encompass the instruction required by the State Board of Education and the District School Board, and a consideration of the racial, ethnic, socioeconomic, and cultural diversity of the students of the District. No book or materials that contain hard-core pornography or are otherwise prohibited by FS 847.012 and/or 847.0133 shall be recommended for use in District schools.
4. For District-wide adoption in core subject areas, teachers who teach the subject at the appropriate grade level and who are not on the District committee will be afforded opportunities to review samples of the top two or three-rated publishers' programs and give input. Teachers' comments will be reviewed at district level and weighed as a factor in the final decision-making process.
5. Members of any District instructional materials adoption committee will receive instructions that they are prohibited from accepting gifts, money, emoluments, or other valuables which shall directly or indirectly influence the adoption or purchase of any instructional materials. These prohibitions apply to committee members. Committee members shall conduct themselves in the best interest of students in support of the district's mission statement.
6. Each District adoption committee member will receive an overview of the evaluation techniques to be used, characteristics of effective instructional materials and the skills necessary to make valid, culturally sensitive, and objective decisions regarding the content and rigor of instructional materials. In addition to conducting topic comparisons, horizontal traces, and vertical traces where appropriate, the review process will include scrutiny of each program's alignment to the state standards and the assessments that are based on those standards.
7. The adoption calendar will be adhered to by the district.

Instructional Materials Review:

For each subject to be reviewed, an Instructional Materials Review Committee will be convened. The Instructional Materials Review Committee will have representatives from the following groups:

- ☐ One or more parents who currently have children in the Taylor County School System
- ☐ One or more teachers who are certified in and/or currently teach the subject for which materials are being considered for adoption - At least two-thirds of the committee will be comprised from this group. ESE personnel will be included in the committee.
- ☐ One or more district-level instructional personnel with expertise in the area for which materials are being considered for adoption – This may be a school-level administrator.
- ☐ Community representation on the Instructional Materials Review Committee is encouraged.

The selected district committee members will carefully review the newly state-adopted instructional materials according to the identified needs of the school, students, and community and the required standards for the course(s).

Activities of the committee may include, but are not limited to:

- ☐ designing a criteria sheet appropriate to the subject area.
- ☐ utilizing the criteria to review the new materials.
- ☐ narrowing the selection to three top choices.
- ☐ listening to presentations by representatives of the publisher(s).
- ☐ developing a strengths/weaknesses document for each choice.
- ☐ presenting review information to each school's staff/department.
- ☐ facilitating grade level/subject area evaluation of the materials at the school level.

Once the committee has met, open review by all teachers of the subject or course will begin. Teachers will have a specified length of time to review and evaluate the materials with the assistance of the information provided by the committee. Horizontal and vertical team meetings will be held at the school level to discuss the strengths of each text as they relate to the specific needs of each group of students. Teachers will be encouraged to teach lessons from the sample texts during the review period.

Teachers at each grade level at each school will come to consensus on their first and second choices.

These votes will be submitted to the school administration. The compilation of school votes will be submitted to the Director of Instruction or designee for a district tally. Based upon this information the district decision will be made with final approval by the Superintendent. Upon approval by the Superintendent, the district curriculum will be correlated to the new materials and schools will be ready to order textbooks for the following year. It is anticipated that textbooks will be ordered during the first year of the adoption cycle.

OBTAINING SPECIMEN (SAMPLE) BOOKS

During an adoption year the following process will be followed:

Step 1: The district coordinator will notify each school of the publisher and titles of books newly adopted by the State Board of Education.

Step 2: Sample copies of newly adopted texts for core subjects will automatically be ordered by the district coordinator for direct shipment to schools. Samples should arrive in schools by mid-January.

Step 3: Textbook chairpersons, in cooperation with school administrators, should assure that the samples are appropriately displayed and/or circulated so that all teachers have the opportunity to review the texts. The sets should be kept intact throughout this process.

Step 4: The Director of Instruction or designee will inform the school if any samples must be returned to publishers.

Step 5: After a text has been chosen by district teachers and approved by the Superintendent the Director of Instruction or designee will ask the schools to distribute samples as they wish.

A specimen set of selected materials should remain available at each school for review of parents and other interested citizens for the duration of the adoptive cycle. Specimen sets for books that are not part of uniform district adoptions for core subjects must be requested from the District Coordinator. They will not automatically be ordered. (Examples: technology, drama, music, etc.) The principal must call the Director of Instruction or designee and request samples of these texts be sent to the school. The Director of Instruction or designee will contact the publisher and request that the samples be shipped.

SELECTING NON-STATE ADOPTED INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS

Non-state adopted instructional materials may be recommended for purchase by staff members once an evaluation of such items has been completed. The district's evaluation process must still be followed. The school administrators will review the recommendation and if approved, a purchase order will be prepared. The purchase order will indicate the materials are not state adopted and will be processed normally.

SELECTION PROCEDURES FOR TRADE BOOKS TO BE USED FOR CLASS INSTRUCTION

Any TRADE BOOK used in classroom instruction (for which a class set is purchased) shall be reviewed according to whether it

- ☐ has positive educational merit;
- ☐ addresses a subject that is grade-level appropriate;
- ☐ is the appropriate reading level for the grade;
- ☐ is free of undue controversy or inappropriate content or language;
- ☐ has student appeal;
- ☐ is not included on any other grade level's reading list.

When a teacher is made aware of a book and feels that the book would positively impact classroom instruction, the following steps should be followed for approval of the book.

1. Teacher suggests book to principal who arranges for an administrator or designee to read and review the book.

--Note: A form to facilitate this process is provided in the forms section of this handbook.

2. If the administrator finds the book to be appropriate, the teacher then arranges for at least one other grade-level teacher to read and review the book.
3. If the reviewers agree that the book meets the criteria listed above, it can then be purchased for use in classroom instruction.
4. A separate form is available if a person wishes to request the addition of a book to the district reading list.

SCHOOL/TEACHER CONTACT WITH SALES REPRESENTATIVES

Contact with publishers' sales representatives should be coordinated through the district office. Especially during an adoption cycle, no sales representative should visit a school without prior notification from the Director of Instruction or designee. If a sales representative fails to follow this directive the school administrator should contact the Director of Instruction or designee of the violation. All orders of materials should follow the process as outlined in this manual. No materials should be requested directly from sales representatives without the knowledge of the Director of Instruction or designee.

It is imperative that we monitor and control free and/or sample materials received directly from publishers. We are required by state law to maintain a fair and equitable process that does not favor one publisher over another. Any trial or pilot of a material (book, software, etc.) prior to an adoption can be construed as giving an unfair advantage to a company. For this reason all such activity must be coordinated through the district office.

UNIFORM TEXTBOOK ADOPTIONS

We maintain uniform texts for the core subjects for grades K-5, 6-8 and 9-12. In addition, we have a uniform texts for Algebra I and Geometry for both middle and high school. Anytime the same subject/course is taught by multiple teachers a uniform text is used.

Uniform adoptions are district coordinated and monitored. Selections are made after thorough teacher examination and public review. At each school, teachers reach consensus by grade level and/or subject area, the Instructional Materials Review Committee reviews texts and teacher votes, and recommendation to the Superintendent is based on the consensus with heavy weight being given to teacher votes.

MANAGEMENT OF TEXTBOOKS AND INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS

State textbook funds will be budgeted in a district account and will be used on a need basis to supply each school with necessary textbooks. The Principal shall be responsible for the proper handling of textbooks. In the discharge of this responsibility the following shall be observed.

(Rule 6A-1.955, SBER) However, the failure to collect such sum upon reasonable effort by the school principal may result in the suspension of the student from participation in extracurricular activities or the satisfaction of the debt by the student through community service activities at the school site as determined by the school principal, pursuant to policies adopted by district school board rule.
- (7) The responsibility for installing a new series of adopted textbooks rests with the principal after consultation with the Instructional Services Department. PRINCIPAL'S ANNUAL TEXTBOOK INVENTORY

Each year, the principal is required to submit to the district office an inventory of textbooks. The inventory includes instructional materials purchased with textbook funds, whether or not they are on the state adopted list. In addition, the Report of Unserviceable and Surplus books should be attached. The Annual Textbook Inventory should list all texts and instructional materials (see definition on page 1) used as a regular part of classroom instruction. The inventory should definitely include those materials purchased with instructional materials money as well as instructional materials purchased through other projects.

At the beginning of May each year an updated Textbook Inventory Form (see explanation in Forms section of this handbook) will be forwarded to the school Textbook Chairperson and to the Principal.

The Textbook Chairperson, under the authority of the Principal, shall:

- (1) coordinate the verification of the inventory numbers,
- (2) note discarded titles,
- (3) note purchased items,
- (4) identify lost texts and the money collected.

The principal shall:

- (1) review the textbook inventory,
- (2) instruct staff to report textbook numbers to the Textbook Chairperson,
- (3) review the final inventory with the Textbook Chairperson for accuracy,
- (4) sign the textbook inventory,
- (5) direct the bookkeeper to prepare a check for all textbook monies collected – this should match what is reported on the textbook inventory,
- (6) forward the inventory with the attached check to the District Office no later than June 30th of each year.

LIBRARY MEDIA MANAGEMENT PROCEDURES AND CONSIDERATIONS:

Selection Guidelines:

1. The primary objective of the school library media program is to implement, enrich, and support the educational program of the school. It is the duty of the media specialist to provide a wide range of materials on different levels of difficulty, with diversity of appeal, and representing different points of view. The inclusion of any item in a collection does not necessarily mean that the School Board or the school advocates or endorses the contents of that item. In fulfilling this responsibility each school library media specialist shall:
 - A. Provide an up-to-date (within 10 year) collection of instructional and supplemental materials that will enrich and support the curriculum, taking into account the varied interests, abilities, and maturity levels of the students being served.
 - B. Provide materials that will stimulate growth in factual knowledge, literary appreciation, aesthetic values, and ethical standards.
 - C. Provide a background of information which will enable students to make intelligent and informed judgments in their daily lives.
 - D. Provide materials from different points of view on controversial issues in order that young citizens may develop under guidance, the practice of critical analysis of all media.
 - E. Provide materials representative of the many religious, ethnic and cultural groups, and of their contribution to the heritage and culture of America and the world.
 - F. Place principle above personal opinion and reason above prejudice in the selection of materials and information resources of high quality in order to assure a comprehensive collection appropriate for the users of the library media center.
2. Care should be given to include input from all teachers and curriculum requirements when determining media collection needs for the school.
3. Legal Responsibility for Selection – The Taylor County School Board is legally responsible for the operation of schools. The responsibility for the selection of school library media center materials is delegated by the Board to the professional school media specialists with approval for purchase by the principals. Final approval is required from the Superintendent of Taylor County School Board.

Purchasing Guidelines for School Media Specialists:

1. Fund Sources:

District: The district allocates funds for media purchases to each school based on the allocations in the state FEFP funding. The allocation of funds for media center use is a school-based decision with consideration of district curriculum requirements. Ideally, the media specialist should meet with the school administrator prior to budgeting deadlines for each fiscal year, present media program needs, and help determine the allocation of the media program budget.

Other: Additional funds for the media program may be provided from a variety of sources, such as, school fundraisers, parent groups, special grants, one time allocations, etc.

2. Procedures: Since the purchasing procedures may vary from site to site, the media specialist should meet with the school principal and bookkeeper to become familiar with school procedures and expectations.

3. Guidelines:

- A. Compare prices to assure the best use of limited resources.
- B. Call the vendor to verify the current price, model numbers and to determine any additional costs (shipping, processing, etc.)
- C. If purchasing equipment, check on warranty availability and compatibility requirements. All technology equipment and software must be pre-approved through the district Technology Department and the Instructional Services Department to assure infrastructure and curricular compatibility.
- D. Check received shipments immediately and notify the school bookkeeper of shipment status. Verify receipt of materials with the school bookkeeper to assure proper processing of invoices.
- E. Maintain a purchasing file containing necessary receipts and documentation and a running balance on the budget.
- F. Maintain a wish list of items to be purchased as funding becomes available. Teachers should have input into the wish list.

Weeding Guidelines:

The process of carefully weeding the collection in a school media center is an ongoing process intended to ensure a quality, current, and usable collection. The media specialist should enlist the aid of teachers in the various subject areas when deciding which media to withdraw.

1. Factors to Consider in Deciding to Withdraw Media

- A. Physical Qualities – Media too badly worn to be repaired, books with extremely fine print, yellowed paper, and media with an overall unattractive appearance should be withdrawn.
- B. Suitability of Subject Matter – Media that is either too mature or too juvenile for the students served by the collection should be removed and offered elsewhere.
- C. Date Range – Factual media, particularly in the sciences and social sciences, which have outdated information or inaccurate information should be withdrawn. It is not the purpose of the school media center to collect outdated materials for historical preservation.
- D. Reliability of Information – Media may be of recent date and still not be authentic. Checking the collection against standard lists and having teachers in special fields screen materials which are not on the lists will aid in detecting inferior titles.
- E. Circulation of Media – Materials which remain inactive on the shelves for a period of time, tend to deteriorate physically almost as much as if they were used. Every effort should be made to circulate the material before weeding it from the collection.
- F. Availability – It is not always desirable to withdraw worn materials which are out-of-print and no longer available. The curricular necessity for the material will help determine when to maintain older materials.
- G. Textbooks – The media center is not a depository for textbooks. Old sets of readers, science books, etc., should be withdrawn unless they are of use for reference material. State textbooks furnished to the students should not be stored in the media center. The media specialist does not assume the responsibility of the Textbook Chairperson for distribution of instructional materials.

2. Guidelines for Discard

- A. Unused, inactive

- B. Out dated (recommended if 15 years or older, except for history books)
 - C. Does not align with the curriculum
 - D. Worn out
 - E. Inaccurate, misleading
 - F. Inappropriate for the school population
3. Multiple guides for collection age limits exist. Examples include the following, which may be consulted when determining which materials should be weeded.

- A. <http://www.tsl.state.tx.us/ld/pubs/crew>
- B. Follett Titlewave's Collection Management

4. Weeding Follow-up

Once materials have been identified for removal, they must be deaccessioned and physically removed from the collection.

- A. Remove records from the computerized catalog and track as 'weeded'.
- B. Refer to page 12 of this handbook for guidelines regarding disposal of instructional materials. The same guidelines apply to media materials. Options include: directing them to teachers for classroom use; cannibalizing the materials for various instructional activities; giving them to students for individual use; recycling the materials.

Copyright Guidelines:

It is the ethical responsibility of all school employees to strictly adhere to copyright guidelines.

1. Definition: Copyright is protection given by law to authors of original works, regardless of format.
2. Law: Federal law makes it illegal to duplicate copyrighted materials by electronic or other means, in whole or in part, without the express authorization of the holder of the copyright, except for certain exempt purposes. With the amendments to the copyright law, all materials are protected by copyright from their inception unless specifically labeled as being in the public domain.
3. Employee Responsibility: While employees are encouraged to enrich the learning process by making proper use of supplementary materials, it is the responsibility of each employee to abide by the requirements of the copyright laws. In no circumstance shall it be necessary for employees to violate copyright requirements in order to perform their duties properly. The district cannot be responsible for violations of the copyright law by its employees. The district requires that all employees remain accountable in practice to the copyright laws.
4. Penalties: Severe penalties may be imposed for unauthorized copying or use of audio visual or printed materials and software, unless the copying or use conforms to the 'fair use' (<http://www.copyright.gov/fls/fl102.html>) doctrine. Willful infringement of the laws could result in legal and/or disciplinary action.
5. Liability: Liability may include fines and/or imprisonment.

6. Help: Any employee who is uncertain as to whether reproducing or using materials is permissible under the law should contact the school media specialist.

FAIR USE Guidelines:

One of the rights accorded to the owner of copyright is the right to reproduce or to authorize others to reproduce the work in copies or phonorecords. This right is subject to certain limitations found in sections 107 through 118 of the copyright law (title 17, U. S. Code). One of the more important limitations is the doctrine of “fair use.” The doctrine of fair use has developed through a substantial number of court decisions over the years and has been codified in section 107 of the copyright law. Section 107 contains a list of the various purposes for which the reproduction of a particular work may be considered fair, such as criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, and research. Section 107 also sets out four factors to be considered in determining whether or not a particular use is fair.

1. The purpose and character of the use, including whether such use is of commercial nature or is for nonprofit educational purposes
2. The nature of the copyrighted work
3. The amount and substantiality of the portion used in relation to the copyrighted work as a whole
4. The effect of the use upon the potential market for, or value of, the copyrighted work

The distinction between what is fair use and what is infringement in a particular case will not always be clear or easily defined. There is no specific number of words, lines, or notes that may safely be taken without permission. Acknowledging the source of the copyrighted material does not substitute for obtaining permission.

The 1961 Report of the Register of Copyrights on the General Revision of the U.S. Copyright Law cites examples of activities that courts have regarded as fair use: “quotation of excerpts in a review or criticism for purposes of illustration or comment; quotation of short passages in a scholarly or technical work, for illustration or clarification of the author’s observations; use in a parody of some of the content of the work parodied; summary of an address or article, with brief quotations, in a news report; reproduction by a library of a portion of a work to replace part of a damaged copy; reproduction by a teacher or student of a small part of a work to illustrate a lesson; reproduction of a work in legislative or judicial proceedings or reports; incidental and fortuitous reproduction, in a newsreel or broadcast, of a work located in the scene of an event being reported.”

Copyright protects the particular way authors have expressed themselves. It does not extend to any ideas, systems, or factual information conveyed in a work.

The safest course is to get permission from the copyright owner before using copyrighted material. The Copyright Office cannot give this permission. When it is impracticable to obtain permission, you should consider avoiding the use of copyrighted material unless you are confident that the doctrine of fair use would apply to the situation. The Copyright Office can neither determine whether a particular use may be considered fair nor advise on possible copyright violations. If there is any doubt, it is advisable to consult an attorney.

FL-102, Reviewed June 2012 U.S. Copyright Office <http://www.copyright.gov/fls/fl102.html>

Note: The copying or use of videos for whole-group viewing is not allowed by copyright laws unless the video has been purchased for such viewing.

Fair use guidelines DO NOT preempt or supersede license agreements and contractual obligations. All employees are required to err on the side of caution when in doubt about the use or copying of copyrighted materials.

(1) DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD.—The district school board has the constitutional duty and responsibility to select and provide adequate instructional materials for all students in accordance with the requirements of this part. The term “adequate instructional materials” means a sufficient number of student or site licenses or sets of materials that are available in bound, unbound, kit, or package form and may consist of hardbacked or softbacked textbooks, electronic content, consumables, learning laboratories, manipulatives, electronic media, and computer courseware or software that serve as the basis for instruction for each student in the core subject areas of mathematics, language arts, social studies, science, reading, and literature. The district school board has the following specific duties and responsibilities:

(a) Courses of study; adoption.—Adopt courses of study, including instructional materials, for use in the schools of the district.

1. Each district school board is responsible for the content of all instructional materials used in a classroom, whether adopted and purchased from the state-adopted instructional materials list, adopted and purchased through a district instructional materials program under s. 1006.283, or otherwise purchased or made available in the classroom.

2. Each district school board must adopt a policy regarding a parent's objection to his or her child's use of a specific instructional material, which clearly describes a process to handle all objections and provides for resolution.

3. Each district school board must establish a process by which the parent of a public school student may contest the district school board's adoption of a specific instructional material. The parent must file a petition, on a form provided by the school board, within 30 calendar days after the adoption of the material by the school board. The school board must make the form available to the public and publish the form on the school district's website. The form must be signed by the parent, include the required contact information, and state the objection to the instructional material. Within 30 days after the 30-day period has expired, the school board must conduct at least one open public hearing on all petitions timely received and provide the petitioner written notification of the date and time of the hearing at least 7 days before the hearing. All instructional materials contested must be made accessible online to the public at least 7 days before a public hearing. The school board's decision after convening a hearing is final and not subject to further petition or review.

(b) Instructional materials.—Provide for proper requisitioning, distribution, accounting, storage, care, and use of all instructional materials and furnish such other instructional materials as may be needed. Instructional materials used must be consistent with the district goals and objectives and the course descriptions established in rule of the State Board of Education, as well as with the applicable Next Generation Sunshine State Standards provided for in s. 1003.41.

(c) Other instructional materials.—Provide such other teaching accessories and aids as are needed for the school district's educational program.

(d) School library media services; establishment and maintenance.—Establish and maintain a program of school library media services for all public schools in the district, including school library media centers, or school library media centers open to the public, and, in addition such traveling or circulating libraries as may be needed for the proper operation of the district school system.

(2) DISTRICT SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT.—

(a) The district school superintendent has the duty to recommend such plans for improving, providing, distributing, accounting for, and caring for instructional materials and other instructional aids as will result in general improvement of the district school system, as prescribed in this part, in accordance with adopted district school board rules prescribing the duties and responsibilities of the district school superintendent regarding the requisition, purchase, receipt, storage, distribution, use, conservation, records, and reports of, and management practices and property accountability concerning, instructional materials, and providing for an evaluation of any instructional materials to be requisitioned that have not been used previously in the district's schools. The district school superintendent must keep adequate records and accounts for all financial transactions for funds collected pursuant to subsection (3).

(b) Each district school superintendent shall notify the department by April 1 of each year the state-adopted instructional materials that will be requisitioned for use in his or her school district. The notification shall include a district school board plan for instructional materials use to assist in determining if adequate instructional materials have been requisitioned.

(3) SCHOOL PRINCIPAL.—The school principal has the following duties for the management and care of instructional materials at the school:

(a) Proper use of instructional materials.—The principal shall assure that instructional materials are used to provide instruction to students enrolled at the grade level or levels for which the materials are designed, pursuant to adopted district school board rule. The school principal shall communicate to parents the manner in which instructional materials are used to implement the curricular objectives of the school.

(b) Money collected for lost or damaged instructional materials; enforcement.—The school principal shall collect from each student or the student's parent the purchase price of any instructional material the student has lost, destroyed, or unnecessarily damaged and to report and transmit the money collected to the district school superintendent. The failure to collect such sum upon reasonable effort by the school principal may result in the suspension of the student from participation in extracurricular activities or satisfaction of the debt by the student through community service activities at the school site as determined by the school principal, pursuant to policies adopted by district school board rule.

(c) Sale of instructional materials.—The school principal, upon request of the parent of a student in the school, shall sell to the parent any instructional materials used in the school. All such sales shall be made pursuant to rule adopted by the district school board, and the principal shall annually provide information to parents that they may purchase instructional materials and how to purchase the materials.

(d) Disposition of funds.—All money collected from the sale, exchange, loss, or damage of instructional materials shall be transmitted to the district school superintendent to be deposited in the district school board fund and added to the district appropriation for instructional materials.

(e) Accounting for instructional materials.—Principals shall see that all instructional materials are fully and properly accounted for as prescribed by adopted rules of the district school board.

materials. The district school superintendent shall certify to the department by March 31 of each year that all instructional materials for core courses used by the district are aligned with applicable state standards. A list of the core instructional materials that will be used or purchased for use by the school district shall be included in the certification.

(2)(a) If a district school board chooses to implement its own instructional materials program, the school board shall adopt rules implementing the district's instructional materials program which must include its processes, criteria, and requirements for the following:

2. Specify the qualifications for an instructional materials reviewer and the process for selecting reviewers; list a reviewer's duties and responsibilities, including compliance with the requirements of s. 1006.31; and provide that all instructional materials recommended by a reviewer be accompanied by the reviewer's statement that the materials align with the state standards pursuant to s. 1003.41 and the requirements of s. 1006.31.

3. State the requirements for an affidavit to be made by each district instructional materials reviewer which substantially meet the requirements of s. 1006.30.

4. Comply with s. 1006.32, relating to prohibited acts.
5. Establish a process that certifies the accuracy of instructional materials.
6. Incorporate applicable requirements of s. 1006.31, which relates to the duties of instructional materials reviewers.

7. Incorporate applicable requirements of s. 1006.38, relating to the duties, responsibilities, and requirements of publishers of instructional materials.

8. Establish the process by which instructional materials are adopted by the district school board, which must include:

- a. A process to allow student editions of recommended instructional materials to be accessed and viewed online by the public at least 20 calendar days before the school board hearing and public meeting as specified in this subparagraph. This process must include reasonable safeguards against the unauthorized use, reproduction, and distribution of instructional materials considered for adoption.

- b. An open, noticed school board hearing to receive public comment on the recommended instructional materials.

c. An open, noticed public meeting to approve an annual instructional materials plan to identify any instructional materials that will be purchased through the district school board instructional materials review process pursuant to this section. This public meeting must be held on a different date than the school board hearing.

d. Notice requirements for the school board hearing and the public meeting that must specifically state which instructional materials are being reviewed and the manner in which the instructional materials can be accessed for public review.

9. Establish the process by which the district school board shall receive public comment on, and review, the recommended instructional materials.

10. Establish the process by which instructional materials will be purchased, including advertising, bidding, and purchasing requirements.

11. Establish the process by which the school district will notify parents of their ability to access their children's instructional materials through the district's local instructional improvement system and by which the school district will encourage parents to access the system. This notification must be displayed prominently on the school district's website and provided annually in written format to all parents of enrolled students.

(3)(a) The school board may assess and collect fees from publishers participating in the instructional materials approval process. The amount assessed and collected must be posted on the school district's website and reported to the department. The fees may not exceed the actual cost of the review process, and the fees may not exceed $3,500 per submission by a publisher. Any fees collected for this process shall be allocated for the support of the review process and maintained in a separate line item for auditing purposes.

(b) The fees shall be used to cover the actual cost of substitute teachers for each workday that a member of a school district's instructional staff is absent from his or her assigned duties for the purpose of rendering service as an instructional materials reviewer. In addition, each reviewer may be paid a stipend and is entitled to reimbursement for travel expenses and per diem in accordance with s. 112.061 for actual service in meetings.

(4) Instructional materials that have been reviewed by the district instructional materials reviewers and approved must have been determined to align with all applicable state standards pursuant to s. 1003.41 and the requirements in s. 1006.31. The district school superintendent shall annually certify to the department that all instructional materials for core courses used by the district are aligned with all applicable state standards and have been reviewed, selected, and adopted by the district school board in accordance with the school board hearing and public meeting requirements of this section.

(5) A publisher that offers instructional materials to a district school board must provide such materials at a price that, including all costs of electronic transmission, does not exceed the lowest price at which the publisher offers such instructional materials for approval or sale to any state or school district in the United States.

(6) A publisher shall reduce automatically the price of the instructional materials to the district school board to the extent that reductions in price are made elsewhere in the United States.

(7) The school district shall make available, upon request for public inspection, sample copies of all instructional materials that have been purchased by the district school board.

History.—s. 2, ch. 2013-237; s. 2, ch. 2014-15.

Instructional materials recommended by each reviewer shall be, to the satisfaction of each reviewer, accurate, objective, balanced, noninflammatory, current, and suited to student needs and their ability to comprehend the material presented. Reviewers shall consider for recommendation materials developed for academically talented students, such as students enrolled in advanced placement courses. When recommending instructional materials, each reviewer shall:

(3) REPORT OF REVIEWERS.—After a thorough study of all data submitted on each instructional material, to submit an electronic report to the department. The report shall be made public and must include responses to each section of the report format prescribed by the department.

History.—s. 306, ch. 2002-387; s. 103, ch. 2004-357; s. 23, ch. 2011-55; s. 3, ch. 2013-237; s. 4, ch. 2014-15; s. 61, ch. 2014-39.

1006.32 Prohibited acts.—

(1) A publisher or manufacturer of instructional material, or any representative thereof, may not offer to give any emolument, money, or other valuable thing, or any inducement, to any district school board official or state instructional materials reviewer to directly or indirectly introduce, recommend, vote for, or otherwise influence the adoption or purchase of any instructional materials.

(2) A district school board official or a state instructional materials reviewer may not solicit or accept any emolument, money, or other valuable thing, or any inducement, to directly or indirectly introduce, recommend, vote for, or otherwise influence the adoption or purchase of any instructional material.

Any pilot program during the first 2 years of the adoption period must have the prior approval of the commissioner.

(4) Any publisher or manufacturer of instructional materials or representative thereof or any district school board official or state instructional materials reviewer who violates any provision of this section commits a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. PRINCIPAL'S ANNUAL TEXTBOOK INVENTORY

Each year, the principal is required to submit to the district office an inventory of textbooks. The inventory includes instructional materials purchased with textbook funds, whether or not they are on the state adopted list. In addition, the Report of Unserviceable and Surplus books should be attached. The form is available on disk upon request from the Curriculum Office. The Annual Textbook Inventory should list all texts and instructional materials (see definition on page 1) used as a regular part of classroom instruction. The inventory should definitely include those materials purchased with instructional materials money as well as instructional materials purchased through other projects.

The Annual Instructional Materials Inventory Form was developed to assist school personnel in the preparation of this inventory. The form consists of five (5) major areas: General Information, Identification, Receipts, Distribution During Year, and Fines.

Specific information required within these areas is identified below.

General Information

School	-	enter name
Date	-	enter date form is submitted
Principal's Signature	-	signature required on each page

Identification

This section has been completed on books reported at the end of the previous year. For all new materials you must use blank copies of the form and complete this area and the remaining areas.

Receipts

On Hand, July 1	This column should show the number of copies which were on hand on July 1 or the beginning of this fiscal year. These books include those which you reported as having "on hand" on last year's inventory. The Curriculum Office automatically fills in this information based on what was supplied at the end of the last fiscal year. If it is missing it is the school's responsibility to fill it in.
Found	This column should indicate the number of books which were not counted last year, but have since been found and added back into inventory.
Received	This column should show the number of additional copies which have been acquired since July 1. These are materials which have been purchased during the most recent school year or fiscal year.
Grand Total	This column should be the total number of books which were available for use during the year. This is a total of those copies reported as "on hand July 1" plus those which were "found" plus those which were "received". Please check your addition. This indicates the number you must account for. This column grand total and the grand total at the end should be equal.

Distribution During Year- This portion indicates what has happened with total receipts.

Recycled/Disposed of	These are books which you disposed of through the policy of "Disposal of Instructional Materials". If you plan to discard any books prior to July 1, please indicate the number here. If you sold any of these books to surplus, put the number of books sold here. If you collected money for this the amount should be recorded in the Amount Collected column.
Consumed	These are the number of copies which have been consumed. Generally, these are workbooks.
Paid For	These are books which were damaged beyond re-use or lost, and for which some fees were collected. Report the monies collected in the "Amount Collected" column.
Charged/No Pay	These are books which were lost or damaged by students and for which students were charged but failed to pay.
No Record	This number represents the number of copies for which you can find no record. (You simply do not know what happened to these materials.) If large quantities appear in this column, your counting or control procedures should be questioned. However, on occasion, books are misplaced and over-looked when a count is made. Usually books accounted for in this column will show up on next year's inventory in the column "Found".
Usable On Hand	These are books which are available and are usable for another year. The majority of your books should be in this category.
Grand Total	The number of copies listed here should be the sum of those listed in all the other columns under "Distribution During the Year" except "Total on Hand". This number should be equal to the "Grand Total" from the section on receipts. If not, please go back and recheck your counting.
Amount Collected	Report the amount collected. This column must include and dollars collected as a result of fines of surplus sale. It is the duty of the principal to collect from each pupil or his parent the purchase price of instructional materials the pupil has lost, destroyed, or unnecessarily damaged and to report and transmit such amounts to the Superintendent. A check totaling the amount collected should accompany the inventory. This amount will be added to your textbook allocation for the following year.

The form will be transmitted electronically to the Principal and to the School Instructional Materials Chairperson.
