Nine short years ago I was saying hello to the Houston County community and now I am saying farewell. As I say farewell, I also say a big THANK YOU for allowing me to call Houston County home and for allowing me the privilege of working in this great school system. Houston County is truly a great place to live and to work, because of the wonderful people that make up this community.

The main purpose of CTAE is to prepare students for success in the workforce and it takes many stakeholders to assist with this preparation. Some of the key CTAE stakeholders in our community include:

- business and industry partners
- career technical student organizations (CTSOs)
- academic partners
- elected officials

Business and industry partners have demonstrated their support of CTAE by devoting some of their time to serve as CTAE advisory council members, career academy board of director members, soft skill seminar speakers and CTSO judges. They also provide work-based learning experiences for CTAE students, and funds for special CTAE projects. Our CTAE teachers serve as advisors to the CTSOs where our students develop leadership skills and experience the importance of relationships. Numerous CTAE advisors and students from Houston County serve in region, state, and national leadership roles. Academic partners such as our technical college, universities, and high school core courses help our CTAE students understand the relevancy of academics in the workplace. The academic partners also help CTAE students experience rigor by encouraging them to take challenging coursework. Elected officials including our board of education members, city council members, county commissioners, mayors, and state & federal legislators are highly visible stakeholders for our CTAE programs. They are often seen assisting our CTAE programs in ways mentioned above, as well as, making declarations for CTAE, writing ordinances for CTAE, and passing legislation in support of CTAE.

For over 35 years my career has been in some area of Career, Technical, and Agricultural Education (CTAE). I am passionate about CTAE. When I moved to Houston County, I was following my passion for CTAE on a larger level than I had experienced. As I leave Houston County, I continue following my passion for CTAE on an even larger level. I will be serving as the Director of Career, Technical, and Agricultural Education for the Georgia Department of Education (GaDOE).

I have enjoyed my tenure in the Houston County School System and appreciate having the opportunity of working with you. Thank you for the support, guidance, and encouragement you have provided to me and our CTAE programs.

Even though I will miss my fellow Houston County School System Employees and the Houston County community, I am looking forward to becoming the Director of CTAE for GaDOE and starting a new phase of my career.

WRHS FFA Celebrates National FFA Week

Warner Robins High School FFA celebrated the month of February for National FFA Week. The week-long tradition began in 1947 when the National FFA Board of Directors designated the week of George Washington's birthday as National FFA Week in recognition of his legacy as an agriculturist and farmer. The first National FFA Week was held in 1948. Today, FFA Week always runs Saturday to Saturday and encompasses February 22nd, Washington's birthday.

at Fort Valley State University. Dr. Kannan and Ms. Maze shared opportunities available for students at FVSU in the College of Agriculture. The institution has educated students for more than a hundred years and remains Georgia's only 1890 land-grant school.

Other activities were also held during FFA week. The FFA week proclamation was signed by Mayor Randy Toms, teacher appreciation day was held and students attended FFA day at the Capitol.

The items were delivered to the Robins Airman and Family Readiness Center on RAFB. TSgt Ronald Megginson said “the items would be utilized to assist families who have come to us for information and training on how to best care for the new little ones they will be bringing into their homes. For some young military families, these bundles may be the first baby items for their baby. Thank you so very much for your thoughtfulness in supporting the “smallest” members of our National Armed Forces Families.” Abby Damore, Sydney Whilden and Ally McChargue spent time sorting and preparing the baby gifts for pick up. Microsoft Office Specialist Certification a Big Success at HCHS

Recently, students enrolled in the Business & Technology pathway courses at HCHS had the opportunity for Microsoft Office Specialist (MOS) training and certification using MS Office Excel and Word. MOS Certification training and testing, very costly at approved testing centers, were offered free to students enrolled in Business and Computer Science courses this year, thanks to the support of Dr. Barbara Wall and Mike Folsie from the board office. Thirty-five students became certified by passing an online test, demonstrating their knowledge in program applications in real world settings.

The new MOS exams have been designed to test a job candidate's ability to use an Office application in a way that's more closely aligned with how they would use it every day on the job. Demonstrating that you have the skills needed to get the most out of Office by earning a Microsoft Office Specialist certification in a specific Office program can earn an entry-level business employee as much as $16,000 more in annual salary than uncertified peers.

Standards in these courses are closely aligned with each of the MS Office application programs. Students completing the three-course pathway are also given the opportunity for certification in PowerPoint by taking the End of Pathway Assessment.

“Congratulations to these students for achieving a credential recognized by employers around the country. It gives them a leg-up in competing for the scarce jobs out there!” said Gina Jessup, pathway instructor. CTAE Supervisor at Houston County High School is Del Martin. The Principal is Dr. Doug Rizer.

PHS FFA Exhibits Grand Champion Heifer

Jacob Collins, Perry FFA junior, had the “best day of his life” so far at the 2015 Georgia Junior National Livestock Show. He exhibited the Grand Champion Heifer at the show. His heifer is a Simmental breed which Jacob selected last spring for the show season. He purchased the calf from Randy Daniels at Partisover Ranch because of her structural correctness, overall balance, and maternal qualities with very high goals for his junior year. These characteristics were pieces that not only became crucial in her success as a show heifer, but also in the future plans Jacob had for her as a breeding female.

In order to reach his goals, Jacob began working last summer by attending “Cow Camp” hosted Monday through Thursday by his FFA Chapter. During these hot, dry months he spent countless hours walking, washing, grooming, and helping other showmen to prepare for the upcoming year. Still, once school was back in session and Jacob returned to the classroom the work never stopped. He was known by his peers and advisors to leave school, grab a snack, and head to the farm until he was called home at dark each day. Jacob is very committed to the junior livestock project and works very hard. Jacob campaigned the heifer all over the state during the year. He also participated in the North American International Livestock Exposition in Louisville, Kentucky.

Jacob contributes his successes to the support of his family, his fellow students, and his ag advisors. Jacob is an honor student at Perry High where he takes AP and Honors courses, is a member of the National Honor Society, and the Secretary of the Perry FFA. The FFA Advisors at Perry High are Philip Gentry, Argene Claxton, and Phil Gentry.

HCCA FCCLA and Junior Culinarians Experience Cheese Workshop

Chef Jason and Chef Scott demonstrating fresh cheese

FCCLA and aspiring American Culinary Federation Junior Culinarians were invited to the Courtyard Marriott to experience a fresh cheese work shop. Chef Jason De La Sota (Executive Chef at the Marriott) and Executive Pastry Chef Scott did a demonstration on how to make Queso Fresco which is a creamy, soft, and mild unaged white cheese, commonly used in the Iberian Peninsula and in several Latin American countries. Because it doesn't have to be aged, students were able to taste the cheese immediately upon completion.

Chef Jason and Chef Scott look forward to forming a great partnership with our program to include students in opportunities such as working at the local farmers market and also being a part of some amazing culinary scholarships that they are looking to give away.

The Houston County Career Academy is located at 1311 Corder Road in Warner Robins. Culinary instructor is Chef Aleena Bennett and Principal is Sabrina Phelps. For more information, contact the Director of Career, Technical and Agricultural Education, Barbara Wall, at 478-988-6222, ext. 10226 or Barbara.Wall@hcbe.net.

Houston County Robotics Team Competes

The Houston County Robotics Team, led by Mr. William Smith (Houston County Career Academy) and Mr. Tom Stahl (Northside High School), took 6th place in the FIRST Robotics Competition in Perry, GA, titled the Georgia Southern Classic Regional Competition. FIRST stands for “For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology. “The FIRST Robotics Competition combined the excitement of sport with the rigors of science and technology.

In preparation for the competition, under strict rules, limited resources, and time limits, teams of 25 students or more were challenged to raise funds, design a team "brand," hone teamwork skills, and build and program robots to perform prescribed tasks against a field of competitors. It's was as close to "real-world engineering" as a student can get. Volunteer professional mentors donated their time and talents to guide each team.

The team also won the Creativity Award for their unique robotics "fingers" design that was used to pick up crates and stack them. The theme for the competition was called Recycle Rush. The team had to pick up crates and stack trashcans on top of them. Next, a pool noodle had to be inserted into the top of the trashcan. “I am very proud of all the students, teachers, and mentors that participated in this year's robotics season! All the time and countless hours were well worth it!”, said William Smith, Jr., FIRST Robotics Advisor at Houston County Career Academy.

Houston County FCCLA Teachers Attend Conference

Houston County Family and Consumer Sciences teachers recently attended their annual Winter In-Service Conference in Savannah. Keynote speaker, Kent Julian, motivated the audience to “Show up and shine for your voyage.” Pictured (l to r) Lynsey Singleton, Houston County High, Crystal Quick and Kama Beaumarchais, Perry High, Amanda Hayes, Northside Middle, (back) Donna Brown, Veterans High, Leigh Cape, Thompson Middle and Sheila Johnson, Warner Robins High. Ashley Calcutt, pictured above on left, job shadowed Diana Phillips, FBLA Advisor, for the day as a project with Veterans High School. She was able to see some of the things that teachers do outside the classroom. As a former FBLA member and officer herself, she was no stranger to the activities the students participated in at the conference. However, she received a new insight into the duties and responsibilities from the teacher's perspective. It was a great experience she will not soon forget.
