

Hi Boys and Girls,

I looked at your regular teacher websites and saw they had many learning websites for you to work on and learn. I don't need to add any more to the list, however we talked about writing a story in computer class. We were suppose to have an author come in and read his books to you. Next you were going to write a story in your classroom and bring it to computer class where you would type it, print it and draw pictures in it. (Kindergarten was going to write one as a class.) We would put it together to make it into a book. Our author was excited to read or listen to you read your book. We know this can't happen now but you can still write your book at home. You can write about anything. It can be true or made-up. I wrote one about my dog, Boo Boo as an example for you to read. If you have time please write a story to share with your family. However, make sure you do your regular teachers' assignments first. I miss you and hope you and your family are healthy and doing a lot of wonderful activities at home.

Love, Mrs. Kellison

Boo Boo, the Bernese Mountain Dog

By Mrs. Kellison

I have a puppy named Boo Boo who is 8 months old. He doesn't look like a puppy because he is so big. He weighs over 80lbs.

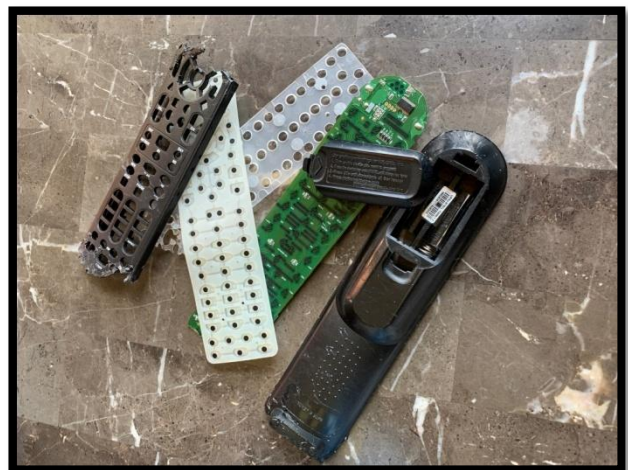

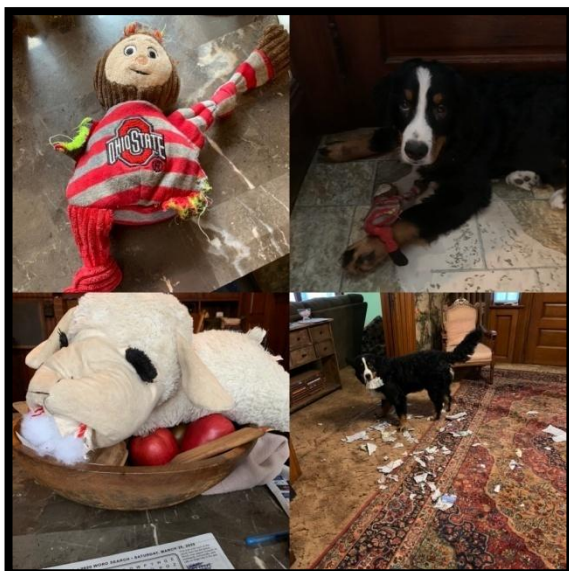

A Bernese Mountain Dog is originally from Bern, Switzerland. They were used for herding cows and pulling milk carts. Their coloring is black, rust and white. They are affectionate, loyal, intelligent and faithful. They make great family pets.

This is what Boo Boo looked like when we brought him home when he was 8 weeks old:

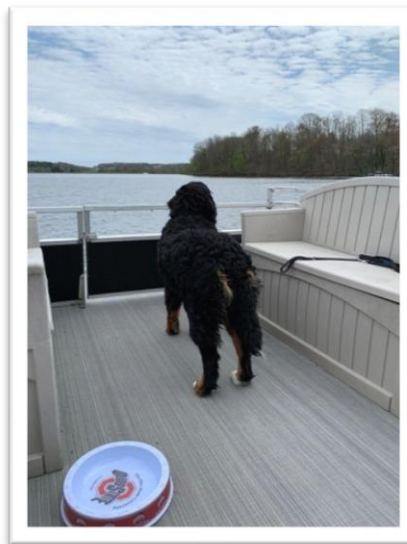

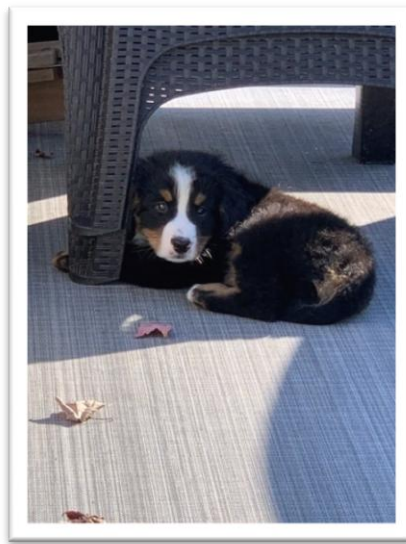

(My granddaughter, Tessa is holding him.)

Boo Boo makes our life very happy but he chews up everything he can. He has chewed up most of his toys, our furniture, his bed, my shoes, pillows, books and the remote control to our TV! It took 3 weeks to get a new remote control in the mail. I read many books during that time because I couldn't watch tv!

He likes to take long walks and ride on our pontoon boat on Guilford Lake. He doesn't like to go in the water though. He also doesn't like hot weather either but loves snow and wintertime.

Having a dog for a pet is a lot of work. You have to make sure they have food and water. You have to take them to an animal doctor (veterinarian) to get shots to keep them healthy. You have to keep them groomed so they will remain healthy. They have to go on walks and have lots of room to play. Most of all they just want someone to love them!

These are two of Boo Boo's favorite toys:

Boo Boo loves everyone in our family and everyone loves him. He really loves children, especially my grandchildren! I am so glad we have Boo Boo in our life but can't wait until he leaves the puppy stage and quits chewing things! 😊

The End

