

Three students from the Randolph County School System (RCSS) have been awarded $2,000 Kiwanis college scholarships. They were recognized at the Kiwanis Club of Asheboro's meeting via Zoom on June 2.

Lauren Resor is a graduate of Southwestern Randolph High School (SWRHS). She was the student body president and participated in basketball, cross country, and track, earning academic all-conference honors in all three sports. She will attend UNC-Chapel Hill where she plans to pursue a degree in the public health field.

Daniel Ellison is a graduate of Providence Grove High School. He played on the tennis team and was named Most Valuable Player his junior year. He plans to attend North Carolina State University and study business and accounting.

Addison Parrish, from Trinity High School, played volleyball and served as a team captain her last season. She will attend UNC-Chapel Hill in the fall, where she plans to major in elementary education.

We congratulate all three of these fine students and wish them the very best as they take this next step in their academic careers.
