About the Family Resource Center

In 1993, the Tennessee General Assembly recognized the increasing number of children experiencing a combination of high-risk environments as a result of poverty, families with substance abuse, domestic violence and dysfunctional families. In order to establish a network of prevention and early intervention programs, the General Assembly passed legislation granting local education agencies (LEAs) the authority to establish Family Centers (FRCs). Schools cannot solve all the problems alone. However, schools are in a prime position to be the catalyst in networking effective prevention and intervention programs. The FRCs work proactively to establish collaborative partnerships with parents, communities and business leaders, state and local service agencies, public and private organizations.

Mission Statement

Our mission is to aid families in attaining the best quality of life possible at home, at school, and in the community.

Goals

- To be the connecting link between families and community
- To provide information about agencies, organizations, and school programs to families, school, and community.
- To provide a support network that links teachers with resources and services available within the community.
- To network with available resources and services from other communities
- To offer support programs that enhance parent-child relationships
- To offer support programs that enhance literacy in homes and schools
- To bring community resources into our schools in order to enhance the lives of our children
- To offer programs which support our teachers in furthering the well-being and education of the children
- To offer and assist with early intervention programs for children in our county

About the Book

This directory is designed to be a quick reference guide for teachers, parents, and community members. You will find information on schools, housing, financial resources, emergency assistance, legal services, and much more. The directory is organized to help you find information quickly so that the resources can be used more effective and efficiently. To our knowledge all the information is correct as recorded in this book. However, businesses and organizations do change from time so there could be some information that does not apply. We hope this book will become beneficial to you.
