

13. How can the school and the district build staff and parent capacity (knowledge and skills) for strong parent involvement to ensure that parents have the tools that they need to participate fully in decisions regarding their children's education?
- Have parents and teacher meeting one on one.
  - They may need to communicate with parents.
  - More information.
  - I don't know what that meant.
  - Offer more parent involvement activities after working hours.
  - Parents can't afford a cell phone. The only thing I can think of their maybe some.
  - Be informed to help.
  - Participate, help and cooperate in everything.
  - Attention and communication
14. How can the school and district involve parents in the development and implementation of effective Parent Involvement Policies and School Improvement Plans?
- More trust in students.
  - Be keeping parents involved in decisions.
  - Ask for parent input at meetings/parent nights.
  - It seems that the school is doing best.
  - Students should ask questions if they don't understand.
  - Communicate with parents about the development of their child.
15. What suggestions would you have for improving parent involvement activities at this school?
- More fun activities.
  - Make it fun for students, but at the same time learning.
  - Offer incentives to get parents to attend (food, games, prizes)
  - I really don't know any.
  - Helping students with homework.
  - Meetings, conferences, and school events.
  - Support
  - Attending meetings
16. Comments:
- If the school can have activities that parents are involved.
  - I have not been contacted at all this year for parent teacher meeting. That's ridiculous.
  - HJH needs to do better!
  - Everything is fine.
  - I don't know how to answer, Thank you!
