

Name _____

Directions: Read the statements that below that list new laws or actions that might be taken by the government. If they think the law or action would be constitutional, they should write a C next to the Statement, along with the number of the amendment that makes it constitutional. If they think the law or action would be unconstitutional, they should write a U and give the appropriate amendment number.

C or U	Amendment #	New Law
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A state passes a law that allows males to vote, but not females.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	The government does not like a man's ideas, so it does not allow him to make a speech in public.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A woman accused of a serious crime wants a jury trial, but the government says it doesn't have enough money for such a trial.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A town does not like the religious beliefs of a certain group, so it forbids it from building a house of worship.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A man accused of a serious crime refuses to give evidence against himself.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A state passes a law that allows women to vote at age 18, but says men must wait until they are 21 before they can vote.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	The government orders a newspaper to stop printing editorials that criticize the government too much.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A person's house is in the way of a proposed highway. The government offers the owner a fair price for the house.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A group of people are arrested because they wrote to Congress saying that they did not like a certain law.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	A woman receives a parking ticket. She insists on a jury trial. The government says she doesn't need a jury because her offense is not a serious one.

Save as New Law