RCES announces Duke TIP Nominees

Richard Carroll Elementary School is excited to share the Duke TIP Nominees for the 2018-2019 school year. Duke TIP's (Talent Identification Program) 4th-6th grade Talent Search is a non-profit organization that helps students with excellent performance on recent grade-level standardized tests to discover and explore their academic talents. Participation in the search is an honor, as very few students qualify.

Students nominated have an option to enroll in the program which includes access to optional above grade level testing, enrichment activities, specialized publications, and eligibility to apply to TIP's educational programs. Once a student is enrolled in the program, they receive benefits through the end of sixth grade.

Second graders will take CogAT and Iowa tests in late October

As required by the State Board of Education, the RCES second graders will be taking The Cognitive Abilities Test (CogAT-aptitude) on October 24 - 26. They will be taking the Iowa (achievement) on October 29 - 30. Each daily test session will last approximately one hour.

It is important that the children arrive to school well rested and on time. If they need to eat breakfast at school, they need to arrive earlier to prepare for testing.

RCES holds first Boys of Distinction Club meeting

Our Boys of Distinction Club had their first meeting on September 26. This group of young men will meet twice monthly to focus on skills such as tying a tie, manners, and other life skills that every young man should know. The group is led by Rev. Brad Hudson and assisted by Assistant Principal Dr. Jonathan Goodman. After this first meeting, interest was peeked among many other boys and more have asked to join. We can't wait to see what the the upcoming meetings hold!

Oliver Herrera, RCES 4th grader, could not wait until the next Boys of Distinction Club meeting to wear his tie, so he wore it the very next day. Oliver tied it all by himself, too. This was the skill they learned in their first meeting. We are very proud to have Ollie on the team. He is a great role model for the younger boys to look up to!

Congratulations to fourth grade for having September's highest attendance. They enjoyed a popsicle party on last Friday!

'Fall into Literacy Night' on September 26th started off with a Leader in Me parent presentation in the cafeteria. One of the goals of RCES this year is to teach parents the 7 Habits and ways that they can follow through at home with Leader in Me skills that their children are taught at school.

In library, fifth graders synergize as they work on story elements.

RCES's Wellness Mission Statement:

To provide students with an educational experience that inspires a healthy lifestyle.

During Literacy Night, parents heard a quick presentation focusing on technology and "emotional bank accounts" by Mrs. Heather Palmer (2nd grade teacher) and Miss Jessica Lewis (3rd grade teacher).
