Created to Create

Honor the Creator.

With verses such as 1 Peter 4:10 guiding us, we believe God is the mastermind behind creation. More than that, God gave us the ability to be creative just like Him. By embracing our own calling to create, we worship the One who created us. Huntington University Arizona focuses on helping students understand their God-given desire to create and connects them with ways to serve others with their gifts.

Meet your new family.

The faculty, staff and peers surrounding you will be an integral part of your daily life and education. Your college degree will bring you lots of personal benefit, but you won't have to tackle the work alone. In addition to your local HU family, a global network of Foresters can connect you with future careers.

Take action.

Our programs are built on practical experiences that put the tools of the trade in your hands as early as possible, then give you plenty of opportunities to use them in internships and class projects. We also produce projects for local nonprofits. In the past few years, many of our student projects have received high praise and attention from industry award competitions through the national Broadcast Education Association and the regional Rocky Mountain Emmys.

Location, location, location.

How would you like to attend a university that is easily accessible from a major highway, is across the street from the Mariners and Padres spring training stadium, is right next to excellent apartments, and is within walking distance from fantastic restaurants? Our location in Peoria Eighty Three (P83) means we are part of a vibrant district that provides low-stress travel, really cool media internships with Major League Baseball and great options for entertainment.

ANIMATION

HU Arizona offers one of the few true animation programs in the western US. From traditional 2D drawn animation to 3D computer graphics, students use tools like Maya, Toon Boom and ZBrush to create compelling characters and stories which regularly win regional and national awards.
