

A A T T	What are the pictures of? etc. Teacher reminds students that their writing should be clear and accurate. Teacher shows students available software (adobe indesign, for example) for laying out the newspaper. Teacher confers with students and groups as they work toward completing GRASP Teacher reminds students that community newspapers are often accepting submissions and that they can serve their community as local journalists.	Students write their stories and share them with their group members as the class works toward completing the GRASP Students use the software and look up videos on how to use the digital tool. Students work in section groups to layout their page(s) of the newspaper. Final newspaper is assembled Students look up submission requirements in local publishers if they desire to publish their work.
	Recommended Resources: Basics of Newspaper Layout and Design The Greater New Milford Spectrum News Times: New Milford

REVISION