

Acacia Connection

Daviana Winger was our chapel speaker. She read a story she wrote. It is about three trees that were asked by the gardener, "Do you trust me?" Her cousin is illustrating the book which she hopes to publish in Spanish and English after she does more editing of the story.

William, Akram and Mrs. Linscheid were the only three who said they liked the Quinoa pudding.

Wednesday evening was McTeacher night at McDonalds.

The school gets to keep all the tips which was $1558! Thank you to all who participated in our first ever (because of Covid) Drive-thru/ Order-in/Take out meal fundraiser.

Jaeylen shows her Alfajores (a sandwich cookie with a filling made of milk and sweeteners)

Thursday is library day.

Bible Memory: Psalm 145:17-18 Our Bible times have been limited lately with a week off for Covid and Terra Nova testing and no school Friday afternoon.

Show & Tell Seed, Friday, May 7 One of the clues should say if it is a fruit, vegetable, flower, bush or tree seed, then give another clue.

We will be practicing the Acacia class play most days this week. Your child is _____ in the play. Please give help as needed with a costume for the part.

Play props needed: very large suitcase, blankets and pillow for a 'bed', a rug for next to the 'bed', large clothes basket, toy mouse, can of tuna

The country of Peru was our social studies topic this past week. A Peruvian friendship bracelet was started, which a few have completed. Pan pipes are an ancient Peruvian musical instrument. A replica of one was made using straws. A couple Peruvian recipes were tried. Alfajores is a cookie sandwich filled with dulce de leche. Peruvian Quinoa pudding was also tried.
