Students in grade 10 in Georgia take the PSAT test free of charge. Students in other grade levels must pay the $17 testing fee. For juniors, the PSAT/NMSQT is the qualifying test for the National Merit Scholarship Program. In order to participate, distance learners will have to report to a testing site, to be determined, and current guidelines to include wearing masks and social distancing will be followed. This testing site may or may not be your school, but will be located in Houston County. Transportation to the site will not be available. Please understand that the situation is fluid, and changes in testing dates or testing availability may be necessary due to public health and safety considerations.

In order to plan for testing, distance learning students that wish to participate must register to test by clicking on the link below and completing the form. The deadline to register is 5:00 on Monday, September 21. You can learn more about the PSAT/NMSQT at www.collegeboard.com/psat.
