

Meet Your Athletic Trainer

Andrew Abraham, ATC, LAT

Andrew is a nationally certified and Connecticut licensed Athletic Trainer. He has served as the Head Athletic Trainer at Rocky Hill High School since October 2018. He proudly works out of the Select Physical Therapy Wethersfield office.

Andrew received a Bachelor of Science degree in Athletic Training from Springfield College in 2017. At Springfield, Andrew worked with a wide variety of high level athletes as well as playing ice hockey for three seasons. Andrew is coming to Select PT & Rocky Hill High School from a one-year internship at The University of Massachusetts working as an Assistant AT with the Football team and the Head AT for the Baseball and Cheerleading team. He is very passionate about the AT's role as a sports medicine professional and is passionate about brain injuries and their evolving care. He has also been the assistant coach of the Springfield College Hockey team since 2016.

What is an Athletic Trainer?

“Certified ATC’s are healthcare professionals who collaborate with physicians to optimize activity and participation of patients and clients. Athletic Training encompasses the prevention, diagnosis and intervention of emergency, acute and chronic medical conditions involving impairment, functional limitations and disabilities. Athletic Training is recognized by the American Medical Association as a healthcare profession.” - Board of Certification

Are they qualified?

All certified and/or licensed Athletic Trainers must have a Bachelor’s or Master’s Degree from an accredited college or university and pass the Board of Certification National Exam in order to practice Athletic Training.
